At the time of printing this and sending it out via email...the meet director had still not sent me the results. Therefore, since we have already had the Lone Star Meet much of the info for this meet is not as important any longer. Hopefully, we will get the results to be able to see where the boys and team would have placed, but if we never get the info, then it won't be a big deal considering this was a cheaper meet that served its purpose of being between the mock meet and the Lone Star Meet.

I can tell you that overall the vault scores were a bit high at this meet, and the other events were about average for judging.

It was a busy day with several boys needing to show up later due to other things going on, but it all worked out. We were lucky getting to warm up all 6 events first (even though we don't like that as much usually).

Great Job Boys!!!

Also, it was a lot of fun to watch the boys (and then later the parents) play the game "Gorgeous Says" that the judge did. We ended up with the final 3 boys left in the game!! Wow, that's some seriously good concentration - and by our little ones too!! The parents did well too with Travis Tibbs getting 2nd place!!
